July 2008

Journals of the Heart new store front in Brookings !

Welcome to our first Newsletter !

Our first couple of weeks have come and gone already. We are so excited about our new store and comments that we have received about everyone being very happy about having a scrapbook store in Brookings. This is exciting and scary at the same time.

We love scrapbooking and I have also done stamping, but we know that we are not the "experts" in the field of scrapbooking. With products and processes changing every day, I'm not sure that anyone could actually be an "expert". But we will give it our heart to make you comfortable and happy with the products and services in our new store.

Thanks to everyone who made the first few weeks very enjoyable. I look forward to making lifelong friends and acquaintances. ~Carol

Looking for Instructors

With all the things that need to be done at a retail store, I'm sure that you can appreciate the idea that I am not totally interested in an 80+ hour week with running the business and teaching classes.

I am looking for individuals who would love to meet new people, teach some fun classes and make a little cash for their pockets.

Give us a call at the shop or stop in to talk about some possibilities of teaching or sharing ideas for classes.

We will be having some classes starting the end of July – along with some "Scrapping Saturdays" where you can just come and hang out for the day (9 am – 3 pm), have a wonderful lunch catered in (no dishes to wash!) and be with a group that loves to do the same things on Saturdays – scrapbooking! Look for all the dates in this newsletter – then call and register for those days that you would like to come in – registrations are limited, so call soon.

Special events in our Shop

- Chocolate Night in Downtown Brookings for UWW and others. Shop is open until 9 PM – July 10
- Brookings Arts Festival July 12-13. We will be open 10-6 on Saturday and 10-3 on Sunday.
- GRAND OPENING! July 17-19 Stop in and register for prizes and shop the store specials.
- Downtown Crazy Days on July 25-26. We will be open late on these days too.

Come in and see all of our new paper from Basic Grey, Cosmo Cricket, Fancy Pants and Doodlebug!

Newly arrived "Paper Bliss" stickers . . . remind me of some of my relatives!

Grand Opening on July 17-19, 2008

Come into the shop on July 17-19 and register for some great prizes during our Grand Opening Celebration. The main prize will be a new Cricut® Expressions die cutting machine! Other wonderful things will be on the list too.

Here is your chance to own a wonderful new die cutting machine that has been well received by scrappers throughout the US.

Not all the details are complete for the Grand Opening, but listen to KBRK in Brookings (93.7) and also for ads in the Brookings Register for more information.

I look forward to seeing you here.

JOURNALING WITH ME . . .

CAROL'S PERSONAL JOURNAL . . .

April 15, 2008 – Today we received a phone call at 4:30 pm at work. They have a daughter for us from Sichuan province in China. She is 16 months old and has had surgery to repair her cleft lip and palate. We are so EXCITED! However, this was also the day that I typed up my resignation letter for my position so that I could open my own scrapbooking store. God works in mysterious ways and at God's own pace!

May 16, 2008 – Today is my last day at Daktronics. I love the work and the people, but opening my own store has been a dream of mine for years. I will miss everyone.

May 17, 2008 – Cleaning, painting, and moving stuff. I don't think that a month is quite enough to get everything done.

June 16, 2008 – Opening day! Man, am I scared to death!

July 1, 2008 – Writing my first newsletter and still waiting to go to China for our little girl – Kes Vivian Ling Jung.

There are many, many brads and other embellishments available.
